

Kristina Julie Rüter

Research Director, Oekom research

Born in 1975, university degree (Diplom-Ingenieur) in environmental engineering. Studies at the Technical Universities of Hamburg-Harburg and Berlin, Germany, and the University of Aveiro, Portugal. Worked in research projects at the Institute of Environmental Technology of the Technical University Berlin, the Leibniz-Institute of Freshwater Ecology and Inland Fisheries in Berlin and at a state-run water and wastewater company in Recife, Brazil.

Since 2003 with independent Munich-based rating agency oekom research as a research team leader. Responsible for the corporate research in the sectors oil & gas and metals & mining. Special focus on issues relating to environmental practices, eco-efficiency and climate change. From 2009 to 2011, she has been participating in the Global Reporting Initiative Oil and Gas Sector Supplement Working Group which develops reporting standards for the sector.