

François Dassa

Head of Global Prospective and International Relations since 2011, within the Strategy and Prospective Division of EDF

François Dassa was appointed as Head of Global Prospective and International Relations in 2011, within the Strategy and Prospective Division of EDF. Previous to this he was Head of Corporate International Relations (2007-2011).

From 2000 until 2007, he co-founded EDF Italia, the commercial branch of EDF in Italy, where he acted as Head of Key Accounts (2000-2002) and Deputy for Strategic Affairs and Energy Procurement (2002-2007). He previously worked in the Corporate Strategy Division of EDF, in charge of investment modeling and planning (1992-1996) and regulatory affairs (1996-2000).

François was also appointed visiting Professor of Economics at the Dauphine University (Paris IX) (1997-2000).

He graduated from l'Ecole des Mines de Paris (1990).