

Thérèse Delpech

Director for Strategic Studies, Atomic Energy Commission

Thérèse Delpech is currently Director for Strategic Studies at the Atomic Energy Commission. She contributed as an independent expert to the 2008 Defense White Paper and to the 2008 Foreign Affairs White paper. She has been a member of the IISS Council between 2002 and 2007. She chaired the United Nations Advisory Board on Disarmament Matters in 1999. She served as Advisor to the French Prime Minister for politico-military affairs (1995-1997). She also served as permanent consultant to the Policy Planning Staff, French Ministry of Foreign Affairs (1991-1995).

Thérèse Delpech studied philosophy and is the author of seven books: L'Héritage nucléaire (Complexe, 1997), La Guerre Parfaite (Flammarion, 1998), Politique du Chaos (Le Seuil, 2002), L'Ensaucagement (Grasset, 2005, Prix Femina, english translation Washington, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace: Savage Century, 1997), L'Iran, la Bombe et la Démission des Nations (Autrement, 2006, english translation published Hurst, London, in 2007, Iran and the Bomb, The abdication of international responsibility) and Le Grand Perturbateur, Réflexions sur la question iranienne (Grasset, 2007). She published L'Appel de l'Ombre, Puissance de l'Irrationnel in September 2010. She has written numerous articles on defense and strategic issues in journals such as Politique Etrangère, Commentaire, Politique Internationale, Le Meilleur des Mondes (France), Internationale Politik (Germany), Survival (IISS), Global (Italy), International Affairs (UK), Washington Quaterly and American Interest (US).