

JIM HOAGLAND

Contributing Editor, The Washington Post

That is a very challenging ending. As you moved around Washington over the last year or two to talk to people about the Middle East, you increasingly heard citations about a respected research organisation. This is the Gulf Research Centre, which is coming to have a much sharper profile in world capitals. We have with us the head of that organisation, Abdulaziz Othman bin Sager. Please enlighten us.