

ALI ASLAN

TV host and journalist, Deutsche Welle TV

Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to the very first debate session of day three, the last day here. This is an all-encompassing panel we will be dealing with, because with all the focus on Donald Trump these days, you might have missed the fact that the European continent is going through some troubles these days. We will talk about where the union is headed, and I am very pleased to welcome an eclectic panel here today.