

THIERRY DE MONTBRIAL

Founder and chairman of the World Policy Conference

So, this is the final session. I am sure that you will all regret it, but this is the final session. The good news is that there are much more participants still alive and there than I had expected. So, thank you very much for being so faithful to all of us. The final session as usual in the WPC, it is not on a particular theme, we have six friends – when I say friends that is they have all been associated with the WPC for many years – and the task of this final session is to ask all the members, the panelists, to say what they want to say, what they think has been missing, what they think should be brought further in the discussion, not tonight of course, but in the upcoming months, maybe next year. So, it is a very free discussion, very relaxed too.
